

The album was created using glowing neon lines on the road, hence guiding the eye towards the setting sun and the futuristic looking sky-line. The palm trees and the sky-scrapers also face inwards, leading the view through a composition and making the overall album feel organized. Furthermore, the building and palm trees become less detailed and fade into the distance creating a space illusion. The shadows create a contrast with the bright neon lights and the sunset making the image pop-up and more detailed and dramatic.

The chrome-silverish can be accompanied by the sunset in the background stood out most for me because it created the most brightest and color full part of the entire album cover. The orange, pink, and tones with cooler purple, blue, cyan make a strong composition. The bold neon colors give the light and dark contrast and the bigger size of sunset create emphasis on the view and draw it first. The cyberpunk aesthetics and color palette also create unity giving the album a energetic plus futuristic mood.
